$350,000.00 Realty Deal Closed by Dawley Bros.

A deal reported to have a consideration of $350,000 was closed during the past week when Dawley Bros., realtors, sold to J. W. Cherry, of Palm Beach, a tract of land, just west of the city of St. Cloud belonging to B. L. Steen, and associates, of this city.

This property is on the lake front west of the city and was acquired by Mr. Steen soon after he came to this city and started to buy lands in the city and adjacent territory.

The holdings is said to embrace 535 acres with most of the land having a lake frontage.

Plans for development were not announced, but this being a very desirable location is understood a large sum will be spent on development at an early date.

REALTORS DISCUSS IMPORTANT MATTERS

The regular weekly luncheon of the St. Cloud Realtors' Board, was held last Friday at the St. Cloud Hotel Cafe. Those present were President B. L. Steen, E. O. Ward, C. E. Steen, H. L. Gadow, Chas. Landis, Clarence Butler, Mrs. Rosenthal, S. W. Porter, Howard Dawley, John F. Bailey and Clarence Dawley. In the absence of Secretary Wm. Landis, Chas. Landis was secretary.

A. W. Porter, made a partial report for the committee on the trip to the Realtors' Convention at Lakeland. He told of the splendid showing the St. Cloud Orchestral Band made at the convention and the real publicity thus gained. A vote of thanks was given the committee and it was continued until all duties assigned had been completed.

That St. Cloud was badly in need of skilled labor was discussed in the meeting. The advisability of the band playing concerts in the business section of the city, was discussed and will be given due consideration.

After the membership drive of the Chamber of Commerce it was decided that the committee should get busy and have the motorcade planned some time ago which will be the means of bringing St. Cloud more forcefully to the attention of the people of Florida than by any other means.

The secretary presented each member present with a copy of the Florida Real Estate Journal.

ST. CLOUD WOMAN HONORED BY RE-ELECTION AS VICE PRESIDENT

St. Cloud appreciated the honor conferred on Mrs. L. M. Parker, who was re-elected vice president of the State W. C. T. U. of Florida, also that she was chosen delegates to the week at Detroit, Mich.

National Convention in session this The fact that the national convention followed so closely upon the Florida State convention, the ladies who were to attend the National meeting went directly from here to Detroit, thus making the trip more pleasant for Mrs. Parker.

ARMISTICE BALL AT EAST LAKE CLUB

There was a large crowd attending the dance at the East Lake Club House on Wednesday night. The music was furnished by the C. C. Rolfe, St. Cloud Orchestra and the hundreds of couples present showed their appreciation by the enthusiastic cheering. Commencing next Thursday there will be given a dance each week to which all are welcome.

MAYOR OUTLAW APPOINTED CHAIRMAN MEMORIAL FUND

The government by an act of congress authorized the cutting of a fifty cent piece to be sold for one dollar on which is stamped the group of confederate soldiers the image of which is being carried on the side of Stone Mountain. Mayor Outlaw being a son of a confederate soldier, received the appointment as chairman of this fund, and those desiring to purchase these souvenir coins can see him.

UPTON, FLORIDA NEW OSCEOLA TOWN

One of the most gigantic undertakings is well under way out on High Paradise where a city known as Upton is being built, south of St. Cloud near Kennaville. A sixty four room hotel is nearing completion, also street building, parks, bathing pools, electric light system and water plant are to be installed. The entire two thousand nine hundred and twenty acres is to be included in the city and already six thousand lots have been sold.

The owners of this new city are the L. H. Upton and Co., of Miami, who have their own saw mill in operation and are now using the entire output in the new city. They announce they will have a new three building ready for opening in the new future and they also plan to run bus line between St. Cloud and Okechobee City.

EISELSTEIN BROS. JOIN TRIBUNE IN NEW BUILDING ON MASS. AVE.

Catching the building spirit from the St. Cloud Tribune, Eiselstein Bros., undertakers are this week adding a new structure to their place on Massachusetts avenue, adjoining the Tribune, which when completed will be 25 x 60 feet, in order to enlarge their funeral parlors.

Plans for the foundation were placed last week, but too late to be noted in our last issue, but this week work has gone ahead on their new addition.

Eiselstein Bros. have maintained a reputation since taking over the undertaking business of the city as the most up-to-date undertakers and embalmers in the county.

With this new addition they will have the largest place of the kind

Bank of Saint Cloud Plans to Give Ten Feet of Property to Widen New York Avenue

While the plans for their new building to be erected at Tenth street and New York avenue have not been finally approved by the directors of the Bank of Saint Cloud, the Tribune learned last night that decision had been made to give ten feet off the west end of the bank's property for the widening of New York avenue between Tenth and Eleventh street and that at an early date the plans for their new building would be presented to the directors by an efficient architect for approval.

Cashier B. J. Rhame was not in possession of information as to when the new building would be started, but had information that the officials of the bank had decided to join Mr. G. C. Hunter in giving to the city the extra ten feet to widen the street.

According to former reports the bank will have their entrance on Tenth street instead of on the corner of Tenth and New York, when the new building plans are complete.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LUNCHEON WAS SCENE OF ENTHUSIASM AND ACTIVITY

A pleased crowd gathered at the noon luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, at which the committee served chicken. In the absence of both the President and Vice-President S. W. Porter, president. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved the introduction of guest followed. John F. Bailey presented Mr. and Mrs. Riese of New York and Mrs. Geo. of Iowa. Mr. G. C. Hunter presented Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Sellen of Locke, N. Y., old friends, and Mrs. Foster presented Mrs. Wallace, of Boston, Mass. Mrs. H. E. Roby, of Lodi, N. H., and Mrs. L. J. Pelletier of Ludington, Mich.

Secretary Rolfe announced that on next Monday there would be a meeting of Boy Scout masters of six counties, at which time Karl Lehmann and J. C. Morrison, both of Orlando, would be the main speakers. There will be a luncheon at which every one interested in scout work are invited to be present, and as near as possible those who expect to attend will confer a great favor if they make reservations with the secretary for as many plates as desired.

Communication from the Western Union Telegraph Co., saying the construction department has approved work done between here and Kissimmee, and would soon send a man here to secure office location. The lady that is to serve as operator has already arrived in St. Cloud.

An important communication from the State Chamber of Commerce with reference to signs on highways being taken down, also, warning against many different advertising schemes in operation in Florida. With reference to the letter Mr. G. C. Hunter spoke of the manner in which this matter was handled in his home town by each member displaying in his place of business a card eight by ten which read as follows: "I hereby pledge myself not to purchase advertising until approved by Chamber of Commerce", and by this means about ninety nine out of one hundred of the undesirable signs were left town.

Secretary Rolfe announced that on the night before the membership drive starts is band concert night and if possible that there be at least five thousand people to enjoy all that is in store for the people of St. Cloud and vicinity at that time which will be on the placemonth. When this drive is over it is expected that it will be necessary to rent a large tent in order that all members of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce may attend the noon luncheons.

The matter of shortage in modern apartments, rooms and houses and the fact that at least twenty-five stone rooms could be leased if some one will come to the front and build besides the sixteen business rooms that will be for lease in the new building was discussed.

Mr. Holden announced that the Ohio Association would hold a meeting in the G. A. R. hall at two this afternoon and invited some of the speakers to be present.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY AT EAST LAKE CLUB

On Saturday evening November 7th Mrs. Sam Hoar, of the East Lake Club entertained a few of her friends to celebrate her birthday. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner cards, dancing and some of the men went fishing and some-body caught one good sized fish, after which all were refreshed with sandwiches and coffee and punch and to the surprise of all a large watermelon which had been grown by Mr. Hoar on the lake front which was one of the largest ever grown in Florida weighing thirty five pounds was served. There were fourteen guests and after all had eaten all the melon they could there was enough left for that many more and those who were fortunate in getting some of the November melon say they never ate a sweeter melon. In the week small hours the guest departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Hoar many happy returns of her birthday here in St. Cloud.

FOUNDATION OF THE NEW TRIBUNE BUILDING NEARING COMPLETION TODAY

After waiting for nearly four weeks for materials to arrive the foundations of the new St. Cloud Tribune building are nearing completion as we go to press with this issue.

Ground for the foundations was broken (without ceremony) about four weeks ago and then it was learned from the contractors that the freight embargo and strike tie-up prevented materials being received in time to proceed as per schedule. Patiently have the workmen waited until yesterday, when a big shipment of material, needed to go with what was on hand was delivered. This morning a big concrete mixer and a small army of workmen were on the job, under the direction of Jim Bailey and tonight about half of the foundation is "poured", and within a week will be "set" for laying the walls.

The new Tribune will have approximately 6,000 square feet of floor space as compared with 1,800 in the old shop and 800 in the business office.

Orders for new presses and other machinery to take care of the publication of a daily paper by January 15 have been placed and are being placed with the country's best known press and printing machinery builders, so that by the time the new Tribune building is complete, early in 1926 all the needed machinery will be on hand.

Team Captains report enthusiastic support of the Drive for 2,000 members of the Chamber of Commerce. All of them are very anxious for the "Zero hour" to pass that they may get out and accept applications and checks for membership. Thursday night, November 19th, there will be a mass meeting in the Community Park; there will be a Band Concert, special entertainment and speeches to lay before the citizens of our City the entire plans for our future. Indications point to more than 2,000 members, and we need them. There is nothing the people of St. Cloud can do that will mean so much in return to them as the success of this drive. Every dollar will bring hundreds of dollars worth of advertising publicity and property values. Hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent by big interests in the immediate vicinity of St. Cloud, and it is necessary that our Chamber of Commerce be in a position to cooperate with these large investors to add them with publicity on our city that will be worthy of the thousands of dollars they are spending.

Few people realize just what the Chamber of Commerce is doing in giving to every person holding a membership from the ages of 15 to 70 a $250.00 accident and pedestrian insurance policy. They do not realize that it carries a weekly indemnity, if one is injured, or the rapidly with which all claims are adjusted. Over $19,000,000.00 have been paid to policy-holders of the North American Accident Insurance Company since its organization. This policy provides indemnity for loss of life, limb, sight or time by accidental means. There is no red-tape, and before the Chamber of Commerce decided on the best insurance for its members every insurance company in America was taken into consideration. This one feature alone is worth more than the $10.00 required for membership, much less the return to the people in the way of increasing property values, safety, and entertainment for our City.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD INTERESTING SESSION

The regular meeting of the City Commission held at the city hall Monday with all members were present. By ruling of the city attorney all fractional lots not platted in the original plat belong to the city and should be used for park purposes. The city attorney also made a ruling that a special ordinance could be drawn to assess abutting property for sewer connections; this must be done at the same time main sewer is constructed to save additional expense to the owner at a later date, and prevent tearing up pavement.

Old hydrants not being standard the construction company was given instructions to replace and conform with standard equipment.

Motion made duly seconded and carried that the City Manager and Mayor dispose of one span of mules to the best advantage possible.

The motion prevailed that city tap all dead ends for two inch pipe for future lateral extension.

The unsatisfactory condition last few days is due to fact the driver has been sick. City Manager Mitchell was instructed to employ two men to act quickly and the work is going forward rapidly and by time we go to press city will be in good shape. Trucks have been busy past week taking in cans and garbage from premises and it is the desire of the commission that every household provide themselves with proper receptacles to hold such refuse.

With surveys pipe construction, hauling of sewer pipes etc. and sound of sump and hammer, St. Cloud really seems to have taken a big start up grade. A force is also at work at end of New York Avenue on lake front building the dredge which will soon be in operation.

PRISCILLA CLASS SOCIAL

The Priscilla Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School, was entertained at the home of Mrs. O. F. Hollingsworth on Massachusetts avenue and Seventeenth street. Mrs. Hollingsworth was assisted by Mrs. Hadey.

TEMPERANCE UNIONThe W. C. T. U. held regular meeting November 6th at the Temple with 18 members in attendance. The meeting was informal with no program as the convention had to be talked over and results discussed.
There was no report from delegates on account of so few members being present.Mrs. Smith called the meeting to order and all joined in singing,
"Nearer My God to Thee", without music. The president led in prayer giving thanks for the splendid success of the convention. Mrs. Kilbie also offered prayer which was followed by The Lord's Prayer in which all joined. Report of last meeting was read, also the Treasurer's report.It was reported that four new members had joined the union while the convention was being held. Mrs.
Cox announced that there were 228 delegates and friends at the reception held at the M. E. church Nov.
2nd.Mrs. Smith announced there were 117 delegates and 19 visitors in attendance at the convention from here and gave a fine address to the teachers and pupils.Mrs. Smith announced that the Bibles which the union had ordered from the publishing house for the schools had been received and it was voted to deliver the books to the various teachers, but later it was decided to make final arrangements about the books at the next meeting November 20th.A rising vote of thanks was given to all who assisted in making the convention a great success in every way. To those especially who entertained the delegates many of them not being members of the union but all anxious to help in the temperance

"THE PONY EXPRESS"
AT POPULAR THEATRE
TUESDAY-WEDNESDAYGenius, someone has said, is the capacity for taking pains, and if the definition be accepted, certainly "The Pony Express" which shows at Popular Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, is a product of genius—the genius of James Cagney.As the title suggests, the plot centers about the pony express riders who maintained communication between the East and the West in the early days of 1860. The country was at that time undergoing a titanic political upheaval due to the slavery issue and strenuous efforts were being made to swing California to the Southern cause. It was largely through the instrumentality of the Pony Express that the Golden State was saved to the Union cause.With swift, bold strokes of genius Cagney has built up against a remarkable natural panorama of the unexplored frontier as a setting the whole amazing pattern of those memorable episodes which eventually culminated in Civil War. Combined with the adventures of the pony express riders the portrayal of the crude life of the pioneers, the frontier hardship and savage Indian attacks, there is a heart-tugging love story and turn comedy.The acting honors are equally divided among Betty Cumpton, as the popular frontier belle, Ricardo Coles, in the character of an intrepid pony express rider, Ernest Torrence, who combines religious zeal with blacksmithing, and Wallace Henry, giving an admirable comedy performance as a lonesome constable.The "Pony Express" was adapted by Walter Woods from the story which he wrote in collaboration with Henry James Pochman, well known author and editor.

Halloween's only comes once a year and this year the members of the Relief Corps decided to have a social and entertain the comrades, so the afternoon of October 29th was the time set for the party planned, and at 7 o'clock for the time, at the G. A.
R. hall. There were about fifty Comrades present and about twice that number of Relief Corps women.The program consisted of talks and songs from Comrades and Relief women. The president, Clara Kenner, made a very interesting talk and told how she enjoyed helping the men who saved the Union. Mrs.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

A REAL SPORT

St. Cloud, Fla., Nov. 7, 1925 Editor St. Cloud Tribune.I wish to inform you that it would be anything but sportmanlike, much less gentlemanly, to send out a second challenge when I had already won the first challenge. Hoping you will correct in an early issue of your paper.

I am yours,

W. F. Porter.

Newberry, Fla., Nov. 9, 1925.
Editor St. Cloud Tribune.Dear Sir:—I received the paper this P. M. and thank you. You cannot realize how we appreciate your giving us so much space in your paper reporting our convention.Very respectfully, Mrs. Annie C. May.Livermore gave a reading entitled "Growing Old", but she is mistaken about women growing old, perhaps men do but women never.Mrs. Edna Barber and Cummings furnished the music which all enjoyed. Pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee were served and when the service was ready and the announcement made, and the Comrades started toward the tables the orchestra played "Trump, Trump, Trump the Boys Are Marching".I believe they enjoyed the march better than they did in the sixties.
It is with difficulty that some of the Comrade claim the stairs at the G. A. R. hall but I believe they were winded by attempting it, and we hope to entertain them again before another Halloween.

MAN 82 BUYS LOTS
AND PLANTS BANANASAbout two years ago Mr. and Mrs.
Hug Perkins came to St. Cloud from near Hot Springs, South Dakota and last December he cleared and planted on two twenty-five foot lots, one hundred and eight Cavendish banana plants and in this brief time with few exceptions such have blossomed and bore bunches of bananas.
When we looked over this beautiful place planted and cared for by a man eighty two years old, with the beautiful variety of flowers on the parkway out side the fence, which Mr.
Perkins also built there was not a weed visible. Had he begun when twenty-eight instead of eighty two what could he not have accomplished?This makes me think what could be done in only a few short months to beautify and make profitable every lot in the entire city surely if every person regardless of age, able to do so, would first take a visit to Mr.
Perkins banana plantation on Dakota and Fifteenth Street, and get an inspiration and then with the different things that can be grown commence clearing and planting, thus adding to the value of the property to say nothing of the beautification.

St. Cloud Needs Men Who Build

---men who will co-operate with other builders in making our city greater and better.

Every man who builds a home has enriched St. Cloud. Buy and build that home in Galion Gardens, the premier development of the city, where your investment will grow into money faster than in an unrestricted section.

If you will build in Galion Gardens, you will get 30 per cent off of purchase price for your lot, and you can pay balance of lot price after your home is built. In other words you don't need immediate money except for your home. We will wait.

The BOOK of VISION is OPEN

Opportunity Opens The Book-of-the-Future!

If You Fail to Support the Chamber of Commerce Drive,
You Are Blind, You Have No Vision.

If money grew on trees, and you fail to lend yourself to this Drive, you wouldn't see it, and the other fellow get it. If you own a foot of ground in St. Cloud, you owe it to yourself to support, financially, this Drive of the Chamber of Commerce toward a bigger, better, finer St. Cloud.

With the money raised by this Drive you will enhance property values unheard of in our City. We will be able to secure publicity for St. Cloud that few, if any, cities in America will have.

Publicity is advertising, and we need it.

If the Drive fails, there will be only one excuse.

"YOU DON'T CARE".

We are giving you an opportunity to boost your town, and at the same time protect yourself, when we offer you an ACCIDENT and PEDESTRIAN INSURANCE POLICY that will pay you as much as $7,500.00 we are certainly doing our share. The Chamber of Commerce feels that in issuing this policy, it is performing a duty to you in the direction that will reduce economic loss, and in many cases prevent suffering and keen privation—it is a return, an appreciation upon its part to the citizen of St. Cloud for the support you will have accorded your Chamber of Commerce.

The policy will be issued to any person living in the United States between the age of 15 to 70 years, regardless of station in life; accepting only persons who are totally blind, deaf, or crippled to the extent that they cannot travel safely in public places. It includes men, it includes women, it includes children—EVERY MEMBER OF YOUR FAMILY.

Wednesday, November 18th, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon, there will be still more to tell you, and you are cordially invited to attend.

What We Will Do With Your Money

We will entertain every Saturday morning at the Popular Theatre every child in the "Kiddy Division" of the Chamber of Commerce with such moving picture stars as Wesley Barry, Harold Lloyd, Douglas McLean, Mary Pickford, and others. The only way a child can get into the Popular Theatre will be by showing their Membership Card. About once each month we will entertain the "Kiddies" with a Party and a Luncheon with games and things that make little hearts light and happy.

We will entertain, promote, finance, and aid the athletic and social activities of the older children from 15 to 20 years of age, who are members of the "Junior Division" of the Chamber of Commerce. For them too will be parties and entertainment galore.

We will give to the Red Cross Roll Call more money than they would get by subscription, and relieve you of the annoyance of further subscriptions.

We will broadcast every Monday night the St. Cloud Orchestral Band from one of the foremost broadcasting stations in Florida. A medium of advertising unparalleled; a way to put St. Cloud before the whole United States.

We will erect highway advertising in the most conspicuous spots on the best highways in the State.

We will carry on a newspaper publicity campaign, advertising St. Cloud in the crowded over-run cities of Florida.

We will maintain a Chamber of Commerce with an Information Bureau, a Traffic Bureau, and a Publicity Department that would be a credit to a city ten times the size of St. Cloud.

W. C. T. U. TEMPLE DONER RETURNS TO ST. CLOUD

Mrs. Anna Eliza Haseman, of Bradley Beach, N. J., has returned to St. Cloud and has taken an apartment in the Girman Millinery building on Massachusetts Avenue and Eleventh Street. This remarkable woman has been a real benefactor wherever her lot has been cast and especially in this town of her stay in St. Cloud since her first visit years ago. As an everlasting monument to her memory will be the W. C. T. U. temple which is now nearing completion for the accommodation of the public with a large audience room and reading and rest room which being so centrally located will be a boon to those who avail themselves of this comfort.

Mrs. Haseman gave five hundred dollars to a fund for the purpose of starting a building which soon grew and the dream of Mrs. Haseman and numbers of other donors and friends of the faithful women of the W. C. T. U. will soon be realized.

NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY

On November 6th the New England Society opened by singing America and in absence of the president Mr. McGrath, the vice-president, Mr. Buttery called the meeting to order. Mrs. Benedict the Chaplain had the devotionals after which the secretary read the minutes. The treasurer's report was also read and both approved. Since the last meeting Mrs. Allen Mr. Whitley and Mr. Turner having passed away a committee on resolutions was appointed consisting of Mrs. Rhodes-Puller, Edith Elliot and Mrs. Ben Allen.

A review of ten minutes for payment of dues was taken. Motion was made to recind the motion of last meeting to elect officers at this meeting, the officers to be elected at the December meeting. Mrs. Lindholm was nominated for office of treasurer as Mr. Todd had resigned.

Roll call of states resulted as follows: Maine 1, New Hampshire 1, Vermont 5, Massachusetts 11, Rhode Island 4, Connecticut 15, and 8 visitors.

Mrs. Todd having charge of program called for selection by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond accompanied by Mrs. Lindholm who responded to hearty encore.

TOURING CARS ARE BIGGEST SELLERS IN AMERICA

Despite the growing general tendency toward the closed type of car, the touring car is the biggest selling automobile in America. Severe weather gives closed cars great sales impetus and in the North sections of the country where the climate is rigorous, the closed types are favored. In "fair weather" districts, however, the preference for open cars of family size is sufficiently pronounced to turn the balance for the entire nation.

In this connection reports of the Ford Motor Company show a demand for Touring Cars which is unusual for this season of the year and which calls for a production of 100,000 of these cars during October.

The Touring Car always has been the most popular in the Ford line. The exceptional demand at the present time, however, may be accounted for by the new features of comfort and convenience which have been incorporated in the improved types.

Addition of a door at the driver's left, storm curtains which afford complete protection and open with the doors, greater leg room and a more attractive appearance in the special lines of the car have all contributed to bringing increased popularity to the five-passenger open type car.

SAVE FLORIDA'S NATURAL BEAUTY FROM VANDALISM

By DR. WILSON NEWELL

Dean College of Agriculture, University of Florida

What is Florida's greatest asset? Some will answer: "The climate." Others will say: "Her winter resorts and beaches." Still others may say: "Her fruit industry—while yet others say the tourist is her greatest resource.

But when all these things have been given their due credit where would they be and what would Florida be, without her beautiful woodlands, charming hammocks, stately palms, skyblue lakes and wonderful rivers?

Its Natural Beauty

It is the natural beauty in Florida that makes Florida. Climate alone does not make a place desirable or enjoyable. You will find as warm a winter climate in the Sahara desert as we have in Florida. The charm that is Florida's is the charm of her trees and plant life and it is the setting that draws over a million visitors each winter and that makes property valuable that would otherwise have no value. The present country-wide interest in Florida does not mean that Florida is being developed but for Florida's natural beauty.

Some of you may think this is merely sentimental. Let's see about it. What do we get and how do we benefit from our trees and forests and palms?

Do you know that forests break the force of storms and winds and prevent them from blowing away the soil of the farmer's fields?

That forests and woodlands regulate the flow of streams and by holding back rain water and permitting it to run off gradually, prevent destructive floods.

That woodlands and homes and breeding places of the birds which destroy millions of insects which menace the farmer's crops and that the swatzer birds, the more abundant the insects and the higher costs of living for all of us?

That the forested areas by their effect in regulating water movement and conserving moisture, help to modify the winter climate, tempering the cold waves and mitigating frosts, thereby saving annually millions of dollars worth of Florida fruits?

No Wild Game Unless

That without trees and forests there would be no wild game?

That with forests gone, streams would be dried up and we would have rushing torrents following heavy rains?

That without forest growth, most of our lakes would become mosquito-breeding mud-holes and that fresh water fish would be a thing of the past?

Is the natural beauty of Florida in danger?

Are her forest trees in danger?

Are in Danger

Yes, they most certainly are. The agencies of destruction are at work on every hand.

In the construction of our wonderful road system thousands of beautiful trees are ruthlessly destroyed. We get good pavement under our wheels. It is true, but it is a burning blazing pavement that in summer months gives off gusts of air like that from a blast furnace—and one that is death and destruction to our trees. Don't believe it? Just change a tire some day on the Dixie highway, with not a square foot of shade to be had unless you enter private property as a trespasser. That good roads can be built and stately trees left to shade the traveler on his way has been demonstrated often enough, at least, to refute the argument that trees must be destroyed in order to build roads.

Wasteful Lumbering

Our methods of lumbering are wasteful, so are our methods of turpentine cutting they would not be tolerated. As individuals, even, we use lumber and wood products with a prodigal abandon—as if they were as free and inexhaustible as the air itself.

The farmer all too often looks upon trees as things to be gotten out of the way, forgetting their financial value as a source of lumber poles, fence posts and fuel and forgetting their ever greater value as a protection from extremes of heat and cold, as conservers of moisture and protectors from storms and as safety barriers for the birds which protect his crop from hordes of insects.

Should be Warning

The sad plight of countries which have permitted destruction of their trees and forests should be sufficient warning of what our present course will lead to. China is an example, a country of diabolical droughts, also a country of terrible droughts, also a country where famine and starvation can be seen and with the production of food crops where the thought of food is the only thought, where the getting of food is life's greatest ambition and where starvation all too often forces far ahead in the race, wiping out thousands of lives.

We are headed in the same direction, we all admit it and yet nothing has been done, by the great mass of people, to avoid the coming calamity. Trees and forests are being destroyed on every hand and no steps taken to replace them. With them is going the natural beauty that was Florida's.

What is going to be done about it?

Are Children Selfish or Parents Greedy?

Dear Miss Flo:—I am the oldest daughter of a large family, and since I was seventeen, have been helping support my parents and the rest of the family. I went to business school at night, working as a clerk during the day, earning over my salary envelope to my mother. I am twenty-eight years old now. My other brothers and sisters are working. I feel that I have done my share, and that I should be permitted to keep my own salary, paying a fair board of course. If my brothers and sisters will do the same thing, the family should be able to get along nicely. However, whenever I mention the subject, they all object strenuously. Do you think I am selfish in insisting that I have done my share and am now entitled to a bank account of my own? I never complained about those first hard years, when I worked day and night, giving up all youthful pleasure, and getting in return only scolding and complaints.

Please tell me what to do, Marie.

Of course, you aren't selfish to want to keep your own money, Marie. It is the only intelligent thing to do. Certainly at your age you are entitled to take care of the money for which you are old enough to work. I think you have been very generous indeed with your family. Although it was plainly your duty to help them while they needed it, there is no reason now why your brothers and sisters cannot share some of your burden now. You have your own future to consider—now is the time for you to begin saving against the proverbial rainy day—which may never come—or perhaps even the happy day. You may want to marry some day, and if you have a little bank account of your own it will buy you a trousseau, or perhaps make a payment on a little house. And if you do not marry, there will be times when work is slack, times of sickness, and the time when you will be too old to work, and if you have not saved something for old age, you will have to eat the bitter bread of dependence. Don't let your brothers and sisters fool you into thinking that you don't have to worry about old age—that they will take care of you when you need it.

Nobody treats the person without money as they treat the person with money. One of the chief things that money will buy us is consideration and respect from others. This is true even in the close relationship of parents and children. The cold-blooded remedy for your situation is for you to hold on to your own pay envelope and pay your parents a fair board instead of turning over all your money or turning over all your money to them. When you give them all you earn, you become little more than their slave.

The kinder, and most human way to solve your problem is by showing them a great deal of affection and appreciation and sympathy. Keep in mind how hard your parents life has been, raising a large family of children, toiling and sacrificing, always torn with anxieties in their effort to keep the children fed and clothed. Of course you have a duty to your parents—and you owe them a great deal more than you can ever repay in money.

Be good to her. Be patient. Tell her that you love her—that you appreciate her, and are grateful to her for the things she has done. You will find that most of your domestic troubles will vanish.

Try to explain the situation to your mother and father. Your sisters and brothers need no explanation. If they are so selfish that they cannot understand your position they deserve no consideration. But you have a big duty to your parents. They deserve every consideration.

MAN vs WOMAN

Dear Miss Flo:—after reading a number of your articles, I thought you might also be interested in a bachelor's viewpoint toward women—and why he is staying single.

Of course you know, as every one else with any reasoning power at all knows, that women were created primarily for man's entertainment and amusement. Adam was lonely—therefore Eve, and women have remained man's toys ever since.

Now women are refusing to remain toys. In other words, they are forgetting their place. Naturally men, realizing that there can be no happiness in the sea of matrimony, where there is nothing on board ship, do not care to take a chance, so they stay single. I for one, am having too much fun being a bachelor to ever think of getting married.

What do you think of that?

Billie.

You are quite flattering—when you credit me with reasoning power and try to convince me that my sex is merely man's plaything. You'll change your mind, no doubt, about my reasoning power, when you learn that it takes a slightly different turn from yours. I heartily and most emphatically disagree with you. Where do you get the idea that women were created merely for man's amusement?

Possibly you have been attending too many musical comedies and reviews. If so, you might be pardoned for coming to such a conclusion, but no one can have even a fair acquaintance with the world of business women without being convinced otherwise.

stenographers, shop girls, waitresses and business women with their own successful establishments would probably answer that if what they are doing now constitutes play—they hope they will never have to go to work. In the field of work with which I am most familiar—and remember, I am not exploiting my sex any more than you are exploiting your sex—women are a match for the men any day—and in many cases they are more than a match.

Whenever I hear a man say that he is leaving so much for being a bachelor that he is never going to get married, I begin saving for a wedding present. I know he is wading in deep water, and before he knows it he will be sunk without warning, and before he can come up for air some girl will have him branded and hog-tied and coaxing for permission to love, honor, and support her for the rest of his life—and he will think she is doing him a favor if she permits him to do it. He forgets all about women being created for man's amusement.

Possibly you have never heard the story of the colored boy who always whistled when he walked past the cemetery—"just to keep up his courage."

Seriously, Billie, do you really think and believe in what you have written, or are you only trying to get an argument? I hope you don't believe it—not that your outburst of what you consider popular fancy among men is going to cause any great stir—but it is too suggestive of bitter disillusionment and disappointment, and sex conceit.

Don't exaggerate your own—or your own sex's importance. Both men and women are equally important in this world of ours. Use YOUR reasoning powers—and if you really men—don't say anything about it, think that women are inferior to you may be laughed at.

I'll grant you that the woman of the past was the slave of man, commanding, sometimes, by means of her beauty, but with her sex looked down upon with contempt, as being inferior mentally and otherwise.

But the elder Cato of Rome once complained, "We Romans rule over all men, but our wives rule over us." Today, more than ever before, the higher outlook on life is recognizing the woman, and her woman's work, independently pursuing her life to the highest development of her power, or lifting it out in wifehood. Beauty, intellect and motherhood even in the old days made sovereignty at home. Today they make women the equal of men—and in a great many things, their superior. Now, what do YOU think of that?

Eleven Years—and He Won't Marry

Dear Miss Flo:—I am a woman past thirty. For the last eleven years I have been giving all of my time to a man whom I expected to marry. Now he tells me that he doesn't wish to be tied up in marriage—that a man is a fool to burden himself with a wife.

Please tell me how I can regain his love. I know that he cared for me at one time. If I go out with any one else he is terribly jealous. For that reason, I think he must still care for me a little. Do you think I can win him back?

January. I think, Jane, that you are very foolish to want to regain his love. I don't think it would be worth having. The man to whom you have given the best part of your youth, and all of your love, is very selfish indeed. He doesn't want you badly enough himself to make the sacrifices marriage demands and he doesn't want anybody else to have you. He finds you a congenial companion, one whom he doesn't have to exert himself to entertain, who will put around with him as a wife would.

It is the tragedy of women that not even neglect, insult, faithlessness or brutality can kill their affection for the man they love. They insist upon going on, clinging with desperate hands to the man who may be trying to break away. They go on and on, hoping against hope that something will happen that will give them back their lost love. For all of their dead things, nothing can be so dead that they never loved. But their prayers are never answered. The dead love—nothing can be so hopelessly incapable of becoming once more the vital thing it was.

We do not know why we love. We do not know why this person has some particular appeal for us—why we have a sense of comradeship with certain individuals—why some person fascinates us or why we desire one man or one woman more than another who may be more worthy in every way. Love cannot be analyzed. Not many men are cruel enough to deliberately win a girl's love and then throw it away, finding joy in the fact that they are capable of breaking a woman's heart. There are not many husbands who would not remain their wives' eternal lovers if they could.

Look at the matter squarely and see what an unfair deal this man is giving you. Do you think he is worth your tears? It may be that he loves you as much as he is capable of caring for any one—but there can be no hope of happiness in such a one-sided love affair, and the sooner you break it off—shut your door in his face and forget him—the better it will be for you.

That will save your self-respect, and it will leave you young enough to make other ties.

If anything in the world will bring him to the point of proposing marriage that will. If he can no longer have your society without marriage, he may marry you to get them.

Realist

A. H. Andrews, editor of the American Eagle at Eto, is in himself "Realist." He says the dictionary defines the word "Realist" as "One who devotes his attention or interest to the real, as opposed to the imaginary."

Examination

In days to come when city governments are managed in a business-like way automobile drivers will be examined mentally and physically, for general intelligence, sight, hearing, etc. Too many motorists—10 years old minds in 20 years old bodies are driving cars at this time. Then the death and accident rate will be reduced.

A New Industry

There's always something new under the sun. Roger W. Ruben says a new industry is in the making which might be called the "Going-to-Winters Industry." This industry may grow to the importance of the movie industry, the radio industry, or perhaps may approach industry or the automobile industry.

Elephant's Cold Cured with Bag over Trunk

When circus elephants catch a cold, inhaling boiling vinegar sometimes proves effective as a cure. The "moder" is administered by placing it in a canvas container, shaped like a feeding bag and tied securely to the animal's trunk. Whether the elephant wants it or not, it must inhale the beneficial fumes.

Mystery in Butterflies' Trek From Tropics to Arctic

Each year swarms of butterflies, known as "painted ladies," are seen crossing the sea from France to England on a 4,000-mile journey from northern Africa to Iceland. How they find their way and how fresh broods appear yearly, although the butterflies never have been seen traveling back from the north, are mysteries. It has been suggested that they return in swarms at night or fly back alone as individuals, thus escaping notice, but there is no evidence of this. Another curious feature of the migration is that the butterflies which begin the flight probably are not the same that reach the northern destination for eggs are laid on the way, these hatch into caterpillars and become overwintered that move on toward the north, maintaining a sort of relay race. They arrive in France in May, then cross the channel into England, and still heading northward, reach Iceland in July.

Speeding Up Patents

Although 1,600 more applications and 30,000 more amendments were received at the patent office during the last fiscal year as compared to the year before, 10,000 fewer cases were awaiting action at the close of the period, according to the patent commissioner's report.

Switching Battery from Set to Charger

Everyone knows that a storage battery should be kept as completely charged as possible; to make sure this is done, it is necessary that some simple and convenient means be used to change the battery from the set to the charger and back again. A simple double-throw, double-pole switch is commonly used for this purpose, but is not altogether satisfactory, as it is unsightly, and unsafe on account of shorts. A closed snap switch does not answer either, as it is not rugged enough and may be accidentally thrown.

An ideal arrangement can be made by fastening two sockets to a block as shown in the illustration, the cap and plug being notched or otherwise marked to show the polarity if they are not of the polarized type. If no extra sockets are at hand, wires may be soldered to the screw halves of the plug; wires and plugs are then placed in a small cardboard box and the box filled with plaster of paris. If this method is used, the polarity of the wires may be determined and marked on the outside of the box before the plaster is poured.

A switching device of this type has none of the objectionable features of the knife switch and makes a neat assembly.

To remove scratches from glass negatives make a thick paste of emery flour and alcohol and rub over the scratch with a piece of flannel.

Conserving Furnace Heat

Considerable heat is radiated from the furnace in the basement where it is not needed so much as in the rooms above.

A simple method of turning this waste to account is shown in the illustration. Walls are built around the furnace forming a small room and two registers are provided in the floor above, as indicated. One of these has a length of galvanized-iron pipe extending under it nearly to the basement floor. All steam or hot-water pipes running along the ceiling in the basement are packed in sawdust as in the lower left-hand detail, if they are not already wrapped with asbestos. The heat given off by the furnace passes up through one register and the colder air in the room above returns into the furnace room through the other register.

Lime Keeps Dirt Roads Firm

Experiments of engineers have developed, it is claimed, that mixture of two to five per cent of hydrated lime with the top surfacing of country dirt roads has ended excessive rutting and clinging of the clay to feet of animals and tires of autos, after rainfalls. The clay and lime mixture does not stick. Instead it tends to smooth out and pack down more quickly than does untreated surfacing. The roads also respond more readily to dragging.

AT LAST! The Film You've Been Hoping For— The Funniest Comedy Success Ever Screened—"Charley's Aunt!" Palm Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Benefit American Legion.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" A RIOT OF LAUGHTER PALM THEATRE

The old joking phrase "louder and funnier" was never so apt as in the case of "Charley's Aunt" which opens as an American Legion benefit on Friday and Saturday nights at Palm Theatre, for Al Christie may safely be credited with having produced a feature-length comedy which is funnier than any we have ever before seen and at which audiences laugh louder than they have laughed in months if not in years.

When the situations progress the laughs become thick and fast until they develop into howls of merriment. Syd Chaplin, the star, in the title role of "Charley's Aunt from Brazil" where the acts come from is undoubtedly at his best and this is the high point of his career so far. He hits the high spots of comedy as do the other actors in the cast.

About all that need be said is that the picture has more laughs than the play, so it is assumed that those who go to the Palm Theatre these nights will have an hour and a half of "joy unconfined."

TOURIST CLUB MEETING

The first meeting of the Tourist Club will be held on Monday, Nov. 16 at 2:30 p. m. in the Tourist Club Building, City park. The meeting will be largely devoted to the organization of the club for the present tourist season. A short program will be given, and a get acquainted spirit will prevail. The roll call of States will be made. Be sure that your State is well represented. It is currently reported that the entire State of Ohio is on the way to Florida, and that Indiana and Illinois have left only a few behind to feed the cows, look after the chickens and keep the pigs from spending themselves to death, while New York is frantically making detours in order to keep on the highways and make the first try. Come out and hear about it. All tourists are considered members of the club, no membership dues being required. Come on and have a jolly time and make enough noise to let St. Cloud know that we have arrived. Tune up on the Florida song and St. Cloud yell. Those coming by airplane will be given seats—Ford airplanes of course. Any tourist not present at this meeting and showing himself a Florida "Booster" will be given a $100 in Laidie better come!

MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION

The Michigan Association held its regular meeting on Wednesday P. M. November 4 in the Club House with about fifty people present. President being absent, the Vice-President, Mr. James Goff called the meeting to order and America was sung by all, with Mrs. Hartie Goff at the piano. We were led in prayer by Dr. Hall, President of the Tourist Club. Minutes of April 1st were read by the Secretary, and also the minutes of the 8th. Treasurer reported $4.55 on hand.

Song Florida. We then proceeded to the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Maser; Vice-President, Mr. James Goff; Secretary, Frances R. Hilley; Treasurer, Rose Bullard; Chaplain, Mr. Cooley; Common Program, Mrs. Abbott.

Miss Mae Loomis gave a recitation, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin and the Fodder's in the Shock. Mr. Cooley gave us a little talk on his trip to Michigan, being in Clarkston where the Secretary had been several times. Secretary gave a little talk on her trip having travelled over four thousand miles in an auto going to the further end of the lower peninsula, to Mackinac and returning again to her home in Dryden, Phineas. Mrs. Kimball also told of her trip to Michigan. Mr. Bullard gave us a fine report of his visiting friends in Michigan and meeting with the old comrades of his Regiment, sang by Mrs. Spencer, "What Will You do in That Day?" Mrs. Bence also gave us a little story of her trip back home again. Mr. Fuller told of his trip to Oklahoma, he took cold and was sick for some time in a two roomed house.

It was decided to hold an all days meeting for the next meeting, the first Wednesday, in December. Mrs. Bence was asked to be Chairman of the Committee with Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Bullard as helpers.

As there are no dishes in the Club House all are asked to bring dishes, knives and fork and spoons.

A little time was given for members to join the Association and sixteen members gave us their names.

Adjourned to meet in one month, December 2nd.

About Your Health

Alleviating Bronchial Distress

"Winter Bronchitis" is a real affliction, peculiar to those already aged or approaching old age. It is a very common complaint, as every practicing physician knows. Its care becomes a problem to many families who number older folks among their treasures. To old people, life and comfort are paramount blessings. Cough mixtures are legion, and many are palliative but seldom curative. Indeed, proper conduct does more permanent good than medicine. The "fresh air cure" comes in and demands the inevitable wide-open windows. No matter how cold—how damp—or how laden with floating gases and micro-organisms, the windows must be open, and the cough goes on, to the distress of the sufferer and of those about him. To stupefy such patients with narcotic cough mixtures is the general rule, but how futile!

Remember this: Warm air may be just as pure as cold, and is usually much more comforting than cold night air. Bedrooms should invariably be "aired out" thoroughly during the day. Beds are much healthier un-made, and allowed to air thoroughly. When night comes close the windows, and allow as little change of temperature as possible in the bedroom till morning. Do not close bedroom doors if the sleeping apartment is small and this suggests airing the entire residence as often as necessary for pure air, but do it in daytime. Sleeping-rooms should be where bright sunlight can enter freely during the day. And, remember this: Cold night-air never benighted a cough—on the contrary, it aggravates and prolongs the difficulty. Night-air is laden with impurities, and, in winter, chill the delicate respiratory membranes, beyond their recuperative power. The closed bedroom is not an "old fog" idea.

GOV. MARTIN SAYS PEOPLE MUST DECIDE COMMISSIONERS CASE AT THE BALLOT BOX

Daily Valley Gazette

Gov. Martin says it is up to the people of Ocala county to settle their grievances against the county commissioners at the ballot box.

This information, with the governor's observations on the subject, is contained in a letter to H. A. Neel, editor of The Gazette. About ten days ago Mr. Neel wrote to the governor asking him when he was going to make a decision in the case. This letter reached Tallahassee while the governor was in New York. Shortly after his return, Gov. Martin announced that he had decided not to remove the commissioners. His letter to Mr. Neel follows:

We see all the "beaters" have been removed from the garages, and installed in the homes, but as yet old ring winter has not arrived.

PARENT TEACHERS MEETING
Next Monday night the Parent Teachers meeting will be held in the Auditorium of the High School. A splendid program to be rendered by the school faculty. To this entertainment which will be high class all are invited.

OBITUARY

All was done that loving hands could do yet it, has pleased her Maker to take unto himself another one of his prepared ones—Mrs. Jessie Mae Phelps of this city. In her death we, who had the pleasure of association in life lost a good friend and neighbor, her children, a loving and true mother, her husband, a devoted and faithful wife. It can give only the greatest measure of comfort to those who loved her best, to hear her own testimony, being almost her last words: "I am ready to go when God calls me." We would not call her back to this life of transient pleasures, but pressure to join her in that bright world where God himself shall wipe all tears from our eyes.

Your Birthday Is it this Week?

NOVEMBER 16-21

If your birthday is this week you are dogmatic and determined. You are exceedingly efficient when you have a clearly defined course of action outlined, but require strong incentive to arouse your naturally indolent disposition. Once you become interested and actually engaged in any task, you are wonderfully tenacious and persistent. Your great power and determination often enable you to carry out your ideas and purposes, even in the face of adverse public sentiment.

You must learn to guard against your weaknesses—procrastination and your inclination to dominate and govern by fear. You are apt to be very impatient in promising one thing and doing another, therefore losing the confidence of all with whom you come in contact. The women make excellent secretaries, modistes, milliners, authors, and teachers. The men are thinkers, orators, artists and inventors.

Little 12 year old Doris Duke is now the world's richest heiress. The will of her father, multimillionaire tobacco magnate, gives her the bulk of his immense estate, estimated to be $150,000,000.

Florida Architecture

Frank Parker Stockbridge, a magazine writer who has been making a tour of Florida is quoted in an interview as saying: "Florida needs about 8000 more architects at once. I find three types of architecture predominating—the Spanish, Spanish Revival, and the Cross Cat, with the latter in the latter in the lead." The architects of Florida will, perhaps side up in ability and unity with the architects of any other state, and as to Florida having its own particular style of architecture, the query is what state has a distinctive style?

You Can Make Yourself

—Seems a bit out of the ordinary to talk about Christmas so early, but if you will count the days you will see that you have just thirty-five shopping days before Christmas comes around.

—So you can see, that if you want to make things to give your friends, that the time is short—yes, it will be far too short—if you do not make your plans now especially if you are going to make your own gifts.

—After all is said and done there is something more sentimental about the things you make yourself. Heaps of little things may be made for Christmas during these November evenings.

—Little things,—scarfs, kiddie's frocks, aprons, fancy bags, to say nothing of lovely undergarments—all can be made now. You will find that gifts made in this way are not only less expensive, but unique and charming.

Gifts for the Home

—Here are a number of dainty things, all stamped and ready for embroidery:

- Bed Spreads, $3.75.
- Pillow Cases, $1.50 and $1.65 Pair.

FLASHES of Florida Facts

By MOSES FOLSON

No Debt

It will interest tourists and prospective settlers to learn that Florida has no state debt.

Stolen

During September 199 automobiles were stolen in Florida, and according to Comptroller Ames 80 were certificate law.

Runaways

Officials of Florida cities are receiving requests for information about runaway boys, girls and husbands, who are seeking their way to Florida to get rich.

In Florida

No preference is given by law to any church, sect or mode of worship and no money can be given by the state in aid of any particular church or religious institution.

Twice Governor

William D. Moxham is the only man to serve the state twice as chief executive for full elective terms. He was governor from 1881 to 1885, and again from 1897 to 1901.

Want to Come to Florida

W. S. Cawthron, state superintendent of schools says that during the last two years he has had over 6,000 applications from teachers in other states for positions in Florida.

A Bold Front

According to former State Geologist Nellard, Alton Bluff, in Liberty county, has a precipitous face of some 100 feet, and is considered one of the most conspicuous topographic features of Florida.

Alarmed

There is much concern in many cities over the country about the withdrawal of funds from banks for investment in Florida. Newspaper, banks and commercial organizations in Northern cities are issuing appeals to the public not to be hasty.

Florida Banks

On January 1, 1925, the banks of Florida had capital stocks amounting to $23,553,000; surplus $9,613,714; and deposits of $375,942,947. The total in each case being nearly double that of same date five years ago.

Florida Oranges

The Florida Citrus Exchange to repeated experiments has shown that Florida oranges contain an average of one-third more juice than California oranges, and in its advertising that fact is regularly presented.

Florida's Wealth

L. M. Rhodes, state marketing commissioner, has been making an investigation and figures that Florida has wealth to the value of over three and a half billion dollars. He also estimates that there are home sites for 5,000,000 homes on or in sight of water.

Immigrants

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, a total of 201,580 immigrants came to the United States as compared with 620,107 during 1924. Canada and Mexico sent 120,193 of the grand total. Cuba and the other West Indies sent a goodly many, mostly to Florida.

Sapodilla

A tree with broad evergreen leaves and bearing round colored fruit something like apples, most agreeable to the taste, grows in South Florida. The juice of the bark furnishes the chicle of which we import millions of dollars worth annually, from which chewing gum is made.

Banana Growers

The next annual meeting of the Florida Banana Growers Association will be held at West Palm Beach, October 22-23. Charles L. Stockley of Winter Haven is president; S. R. Aultman of Kissimmee is vice president, and W. E. Maynard of Bartow, secretary.

Fish to be Planted

Shellfish Commissioner T. R. Rodgers, of Florida, has been in conference with the director of the U. S. Fisheries Bureau at Washington and arrangements were made to plant millions of small fish in the waters of the state during the coming spawning season.

Township

Florida is one of the public land states with land surveyed into townships of 36 sections of 360 acres each, but here the township is not recognized as a unit of government, as in many of the other states. Instead the Florida county is a commissioner, the whole composing the governing board of the county.

Long and Short Days

According to the U. S. Weather Bureau the longest day of the year at Latitude 25 degrees, extreme Southern Florida, is only about three hours longer than the shortest day, at Latitude 49 degrees, representing the northwestern boundary of the country, the longest day is eight hours longer than the shortest. Except for the longer days and the hot summer sunshine up North it would be hard to raise crops.

FLORIDA'S ACREAGE PRICES ADVANCE 650 MILLIONS

Florida's bullish acreage market returned investors approximately $650,000,000 during the last twelve months. It is estimated by W. T. McGowan, Tampa realty operator.

Figures, as a rule, are obnoxious, but they tell the story, he says. And by dividing the entire state into zones, classified as to their valuation increases, it is possible to arrive at a fair estimate of the state's enhancement through development.

From experience in actual transfers, it is disclosed that the land in the territory between Pensacola and Tallahassee has increased on an average of $7.50 an acre. Property lying between Tallahassee and Jacksonville has experienced an increase of $18 an acre; from Jacksonville to Ocala, $20 per acre; from Ocala to Tampa, $30 an acre from Tampa to Fort Myers, $50 an acre.

South of Fort Myers is an undeveloped territory owned largely by the Culler interests. Sales in this district, therefore, have not been taken into the calculations. The total of $650,000,000 is arrived at by taking the increased prices in these zones, and multiplying the average advance by the number of acres represented.

"Another array of astounding figures showing the approximate total of increase for the entire state might be reached if it were possible to obtain data in reference to increased values in subdivisions and city property," Mr. McGowan said.

"Florida is a vast territory of 55,000,000 acres. It has hardly been scratched. Only 9 per cent of its territory is under cultivation. The state's agricultural experts report that more than 20,000,000 acres are adaptable to farm pursuits. Only 3,000,000 acres are productive now. The 17,000,000 acres awaiting development will return its investors a huge income.

"Florida has been asleep to its own possibilities, but the state is awake now. The world is learning of Florida's opportunities, hence the rush to the state and the present hectic activity.

"Capital, as usual, had its ear to the ground and heard the message first. Men of great wealth, such as Rockefeller, Kahn, Hecsher, Collier, Klinging and a host of other nationally and internationally known multimillionaires swooped down on the state and purchased huge tracts of land for development. Development in most cases is well under way.

"Vastness millions of dollars are being poured into the state. The stream is endless. The money has been put to work. It is working overtime. Cities are being built, railroads are being constructed. Groves are being planted.

"Land is being cleared everywhere and there is intense activity throughout the whole peninsula. Land at present ridiculously low prices is being bought up in all directions. This condition naturally causes persons outside the state to re-ard our prosperity as a boom. They naturally wonder if it will last.

"Will the prosperity be permanent? Certainly it will. An influx of people always spells prosperity. We are having and are going to have that influx. Florida can offer all three of the inducements which tempt mortals to migrate—health, wealth and happiness."

FLORIDA HAS RARE PRODUCTS IN ABUNDANCE

Here are a few of the many rare products of Florida which are grown commercially. Many others are being introduced.

Asterisked blackberries, Avocados, Blueberries, Bananas, Coconuts, Chayotes, Cherimoyas, Maunee Apples, Mangoes, Mango-stems, Natal Plums, Ornamental Palms, Papayas, Pineapples, Sapodilla, Sugar Apples, Tangelos, Tongue Oil Trees.

The board lumber output is 996,000,000 feet. The turpentine output is 5,920,000 gallons annually. The resin output is 500,000 barrels.

Salt-water scale fish annual shipments amount to 58,400,000 pounds. Some of the leading edible salt-water fish are mullet, king fish, shad, sturgeon, pompano, red snapper and grouper.

The truly sport fish are the tarpon, snook and great barracuda.

The shellfish are the oyster and clam. The output of these is 40,000 barrels a year. The shrimp and the crab are also caught in large quantities.

Sponges are marketed annually to the number of 9,000,000.

AFTER SEVEN YEARS

HARDEST WINTER IN YEARS, PREDICTION FOR UNITED STATES

The hardest winter in years is the forecast for the United States, particularly the northern half.

There really will be weather to talk about.

A drop in the temperature of the ocean, due to a decline in solar radiation, is the basis for the prediction of experts.

Not only is a hard winter predicted, but it is declared that next summer will be the shortest and chilliest since 1816.

One of the experts taking a definite stand to this effect is Commander George F. Brandt, United States navy hydrographer. Commander Brandt believes that the temperature of the sea influences local climatic changes and that these are modified by changes in the sun's heat.

Solar radiation in 1922, 1923 and 1924 was below normal and, as the heat in these years determined the oceanic temperatures for the years 1925, 1926 and 1927, the climates in those years will be correspondingly modified.

Homeholders without their usual supplies of coal, bankers, brokers and bootleggers arranging the schedules of their Florida and California outings, farmers considering their next year's crops, are all wondering if the long-distance weather prophets are to be relied on. In the present state of science no one can answer with assurance.

Nevertheless, it is well established that variations in normal weather constancy are not mere matters of chance and that there is a cyclic movement originating in the cosmos beyond our planet.

Contrary to popular belief, the past weather histories of days, weeks, months and years is of no value for predicting future conditions, weather men say. The accurate consideration of future weather conditions must depend upon an exact study of atmospheric pressures over great areas and a determination of the solar phenomena which are responsible for the abnormalities in the earth's atmospheric changes.

What is needed to promote accu-ate forecasts, they aver, is a world-encircling chain of observation stations to show the diurnal changes in the barometric isobars, or lines of the barometric readings corrected for the height of the observer, above the sea level, and the direction of the winds, the moisture of the air, cloudiness and similar data.

Air Currents Important
In the northern hemisphere, it is explained, the weather conditions normally result from reactions caused by the collisions of two air streams flowing from the equator to the north pole and from the pole to the equator.

These streams flow continuously, day and night, in a regular circle, and meet in places along a shifting front in the temperature zones and give rise to our weather changes. The polar air is cold and that from the equator is warm. The warm air promotes this glacial and powerful circulatory current and is the most important of our basic weather factors.

SOME THINGS TO DO ON FARM AND IN HOME DURING NOVEMBER

The following suggestions on important work for November are offered by the Agricultural Extension Division of the University of Florida.

Livestock
Train calves to cut legume hays by the time they are three months old. Test cattle for tuberculosis. See that pigs have comfortable places to sleep. Breed sows for spring litters late this month.

Dairying
Home-mix your dairy ration with southern-grown feed. A good home-grown feed for winter is 100 pounds corn (cob and shock), 100 pounds velvet beans or substitute velvet bean (pasture), 100 pounds ground oats, and 75 pounds high-grade peanut or cotton-seed meal, to which add 1 pound salt for each 100 pounds feed. (Where legume hay is used, the amount of grain may be reduced.) Use silage or ensilage.

IN THE HOME
Make plum pudding or fruit cake for Thanksgiving and Christmas, using Florida nuts, citrus, jelly and grape juice in fruit cakes. Plan a community program for Thanksgiving. Send some of best products to friends. Have some standard products for your home demonstration exchange. Plant sweet peas for early spring blossoms. Make up jelly juices canned in summer.

State Debts

Allan L. Benson, the socialist writer, has an article in a recent issue of Henry Ford's paper, the Dearborn Independent, on the subject of state and city debts. He quotes reports showing how the states and cities vie with each other in spending public money. New York city leads in debt with $1,391,008,326; Philadelphia is next with $233,800,000. The state of Massachusetts owes $81,143,013, while California leads it by a debt of $94,429,500. And he goes on showing what the states owe, and when he comes to our state he says "Florida has the best record of all the states. In 1915 she had a bonded debt of $501,567. Now she owes nothing."

'FLORIDA HO' AS LAND OF OPPORTUNITY LOOMS

By J. HAROLD SOMMERS

Editor Tourist News

I'm not so very old. In fact, on the small end of the thirties. Yet I recall the time when it was suggested to me to go West. Oh no, I don't remember Horace Greeley spilling his much quoted blood that "out there" were splendid opportunities for ambitious birds like myself.

Where you needed gumption and grit more than title and gold. Where, if you had it in you, returns were great. Where a "young 'un" could grow up with the country. That was all true. I said was! Now, my boys, take it from one of you, come South—to Florida. Any place in Florida. That is, come South, come here if you have the aforementioned backbone, upper story and, of course, an square.

I am hoping this will not cause an influx of adventurous children to beat it into Florida. My advice before going further is not to come here without having a job or enough money to sustain you until you get located. Of course, there are some who will not accept this advice. They'll come here on a shoe string—and probably make good! Proving that, my advice, after all, is not without question, even if practical.

But honestly, I know of no place where a young man can grow today in these United States and grow up with the country as rapidly as he can in Florida. I have experienced both situations and believe that in Florida today there is the opportunity of the old West of yesterday.

Young men coming here hoping to get rich over night may be disappointed. Some may get rich over night. Follows getting there that fast usually lose it as quickly. But the man who is willing to come in to this land of sunshine and flowers, buckle down, work, think and study will surely become wealthy.

It is some old story. In Florida there are more big jobs that there are men to fill them.

Money is flowing into Florida. The old reliable, the wise financial gentlemen from up North are pouring their change into the state. Of course, large substantial returns are going back to them. That is as it should be. But what we need S. O. is, is young, hard working, progressive business men with vision. Those more interested in future returns than quick profits.

Young men with cash! No, not necessarily. Young men with the ability to establish credit and when established keep it—good! A very small percentage of young business men have any large amount of cash on hand. Young men with surplus cash usually have it left to them by the old man. And it would be poor business for even help to hoard it when cash is in so sweetly in Florida.

Yes, yes, the opportunity is here. I am so glad I am on the job in Florida now, today. Why, for those who desire wealth as I do—not all in money—some in happiness and contentment, let me present—Florida. Gangway Boys!

TOMATOES LEAD AS A MONEY CROP

The winter tomato crop of Florida has brought an average annual income of about $10,000,000 to the growers.

Measured by this standard, it is about $2,000,000 more valuable than its nearest competitor in truck crops, celery.

Investigations by M. R. Ensign, entomologist and plant pathologist for the Florida agricultural extension service have disclosed that the tomato acreage has increased from 18,049 in 1920 to 50,070 last year. This is an increase of 59 per cent. The average increase for the four years is 10 times that of celery, although the return per acre for the latter is $1,887.90 compared with $2,750 for tomatoes.

As tomatoes bring the greatest economic return of any truck crop in Florida, it is also true that not only does disease take a heavier toll, but the percentage of loss is extremely heavy.

Nailhead rust is responsible for the greatest loss, not alone from the effects of itself while the tomato is in the field, but also because of its damage serves as a gateway for other decay-producing organisms that cause even more losses all the way from the field to the consumer.

With several other diseases producing leaf spots or fruit rots or both, the aggregate loss is quite staggering. In fact an eminent authority on truck diseases in the bureau of plant industry of the United States department of agriculture believes that 75 per cent of the crop is lost through disease, and that not more than 25 per cent is consumed.

"THE HOME THE TOWN BUILT"

By J. C. DIONNE
This is the home the town built.
This is the home so clean and neat That adds so much to the looks of the street;
That makes the strangers wish that they Could take it along when they go away.
And the neighbors are glad that every one had
A hand in the home the town built.

This is the youth with pep and vim;
Clean, honest labor looks good to him;
He is the one who owns the place
As you can see by his satisfied face;
The property stands in his own name—
To "own a home" is plenty of fame—
And he takes part in the village big,
To hold up the value of what is his,
For this is the home the town built.

Who makes the home like the Heaven above;
Her "work" is "play" the whole day long.
This is the maid so filled with love,
She fills the house with happy song.
For the house is new and clean, you see.
And just as convenient as it can be—
For this is the home the town built.

But what is this army that stands outside
And watches the home with looks of pride?
Why, they are the ones who helped to build This HOME! No wonder with joy they're filled!
They, too, deserve their "place in the sun."
For it is a wonderful work they have done—
Constructing the home the town built.

First, the ARCHITECT drew the plan;
Then the lot was got from a REAL ESTATE MAN;
The LAWYER found that the title
was right;
And the Banker showed the money in sight.
The LABORER dug the cellar so deep;
And the MASON made the foundation to keep.
The base for the BRICKMASON'S solid wall
And the chimney above so straight and tall.

The CARPENTER bought from the LUMBER YARD
All manner of wood, both hard and soft,
To make the partitions, the shelves
and the doors,
The shady porch and the wide,
smooth floors.
The ROOFER shingled (perhaps he timed)
And the GLAZIER guarded against too much wind.
The PLUMBER saw that the water
was right;
The GAS and ELECTRIC men handled the light;
The LATHER and PLASTERER covered the wall.
And the PAINTER finished the last of all;

And then—deny if you can,
They call in the INSURANCE MAN.
But these are just the ones who build;
The house is empty and must be filled;
So the rest of the town then takes a part
To prove that each has a will and a heart
To make that house a HOME indeed—
And here is the rest of this story acced.

The FURNITURE man gives a table and bed
A chair and a carpet on which to tread.
The DRUGGISTS man provides the sheets,
And towels and napkins for the eats.
The CROCKERY man sets up a cup
And a plate and dish from which to sup.
The CUTLERY man then gives the tools,
(Knife, fork and spoon) by fashion's rules.
The HARDWARE dealer would think it strange
If he could provide the range
Together with many a pot and pan
That a woman needs to feed a man.

These are the men if the house is small.
Who help to build, but they are not all.
If the maiden wants a PIANO to play,
An ALARM CLOCK to wake her early each day,
A VACUUM CLEANER, a PICTURE FRAME
A FRONT DOOR PLATE, to hold her
name,
Then others step into rank and file
To make her house a HOME WORTH WHILE;
For this is the home the TOWN built.

The GROCER, the BAKER, the seller of MEAT,
The MERCHANTS who handle all good things to eat;
The ICE and the MILK and the EGGS and the POOD,
The COAL and the CLOTHING and
the GAS and the WOOD;
The STOREKEEPERS handling all things she can use;
The EDITOR telling the latest news,
The PREACHER, the LAWYER,
the DOCTOR, the JUDGE,
The MOWER OF LAWNS and the MAKERS OF FUDGE,
There's hardly a soul in the town you will find,

Who hasn't some sort of connection to bind
His personal profit and happiness
there.
His part in constructing a "HOME for just two."

And every HOME in the town is the same!
It's a wonderful work and a beautiful game!
The TOWN is the gainer as well as the pair.
For their comfort and ease makes them permanent there.
And every new dwelling that opens its door,
Makes the town worth living in that much more.

FOR THIS IS THE HOME
THE TOWN BUILT!

Underneath The Old Oak Tree
While the thunder luma is booming
And the raindrops pattering down,
I am thinking of thee, Nora,
And your hair of lightest brown,
And that soft gray eye, so tender,
With its pity, kind to see,
Now again, in fancy, holds me,
Underneath the Old Oak Tree.

Now those soft gray eyes are shining,
With a love-light dear to see,
Where I thou did see but pity,
As they cast their gaze on me,
And my heart is light and happy,
From its pain and sorrow free,
That thou held it in its bondage,
Underneath the Old Oak Tree.

Seen again, I hope to see thee,
With the Peach bloom on thy cheek,
And to hear thy voice, in welcome,
Sweet and charming, to me speak,
Then they'll not be words of pity,
But sweet words of love, to me,
Filling me with joy and rapture,
Underneath the Old Oak Tree.

Then no more we'll think of pity,
Nor of sorrow have a share,
But we'll speak of days together
With a love that's free from care,
Then I'll tell thee all the story,
How my love will always be,
All thine own, as thou it was, Nora,
Underneath the Old Oak Tree.

Then you'll tell to me, while blushes
These fair cheeks will overspread,
How your love came to me, Nora,
And its brightness round me shed,
And we'll sing a song of praise
To our God, in unity,
But we'll never forget that day, Nora,
Underneath the Old Oak Tree.
R. S. Claverger.

The following souvenir poem the Wreck of the Shenandoah "Daughter of the Stars" sent to Mr. B. Kirk-bride by his son.
As the moonbeams played upon thee,
Shenandoah
No thought of danger ever crossed our mind
You seemed so gently and so sweetly
Shenandoah
As through the air your silver form did wind,
That our hearts were swelled with pride, Shenandoah
As to the west you swiftly sped
away—
We never dreamed your time had come, Shenandoah Or that you'd meet your doom at break o'day.

The moon has hidden 'neath a cloud,
Shenandoah,
As if she dared not see thy awful fate.
The gloom is circling 'round thee,
Shenandoah
I were safer in the hanger with thy mate.
The whirlwind now is raging, Shenan-
doah,
'Round thy great silvery, shuddering form
As you hesitate and falter, Shenan-
doah
'Gainst the strength of dark and awful storm.

Now we witness your recent, Shenan-
doah
As toward the south you quickly run away.
You are roaring like a charger, Shenan-
doah,
'God help the crew', in silence now
we pray.
We're thinking of the mothers' boys,
Shenandoah
And of the little kiddies safe asleep,
Of father, mothers, sweethearts,
Shenandoah
And wives at home who soon must weep.

Now your graceful form is bending,
Shenandoah
The crew in desperation works away.
The storm has broken their control,
Shenandoah
Your action makes us almost fear to stay.
You are parting in the middle, Shenan-
doah
The central car falls down on the ground.
Followed closely by the aft, Shenan-
doah
While the fore part goes on with a bound.

Your cruise has ended, Shenandoah,
All crushed and broken, now you lay Thy fragments are scattered, Shenan-
doah
We'll all long remember this day.
We salute the brave crew, Shenan-
doah
As 'round thy still form we tread
Here's cheers for the living, Shenan-
doah
And showers of tears for the dead.
—H. B. POTTER, Sept. 15, 1925

The Truth—Nothing But Mandy—"Is that Bastard Brown fast?"
Lindy—"Nothing but his color."

The Battle of Shiloh.

It was Shiloh—
The holiest one of the year;
The sky was as clear
As a crystal of light,
And flowers were blossoming
In profusion to cheer;
But the heart was made sick
By a different sight!

The soldiers were sleeping
On the banks of the stream, Unconscious of dangers Then lurking so near;
But some never 'woke
From the bright happy dream
That was speaking of home,
And the loved ones so dear!

While all were in slumber
In the white federal tents, Confederates came
In the dark shadowed wood,
A valley—
Also, there were nothing but rears
Where a moment before
The union camp stood!

And then there commences
The struggle for life—
No time to form ranks,
Nor to fall into line;
The half-prepared federals
Commence the strife,
But victory for them
There appeared not a sign.

From the river to the river
The cannon now roar
With minute balls flying
As thick as the hail;
But many brave soldiers
Shall bear them no more—
Their friends far away
Their death will bewail.

The fields and the woodlands
Were covered with blood—
The Blue and the Gray
Lying there side by side,
How precious the fountain
From which sprang the flood;
Many sad, broken hearted,
Shall sail on its tide.

The men of the North
And the men of the South,
Not fearing the host,
Of the cannon's loud mouth—
Equally fearless and equally brave,
Neither would compromise make
With death or the grave—
With honor at stake.

Come, Shiloh, Divine—Mendish the Great,
Drive out of man's nature
The scorpion, hate;
Call in all the pickets
And then we shall know
That peace is declared
By Mendish, Shiloh!
DR. J. L. PUCKETT.

A NEGRO CABIN IN THE SOUTH

Oh it's home, sweet home in de sunny Southland
Where de mockin' birds sing all de day,
De pine trees ain't tall an' de cabin ain't small
But de chillun an' happy an' gay.

Oh it's home, sweet home, an' de

Can rest while de watch to de one
Who works in de field where de har-

De comin' ob life when its done.

Oh it's home, sweet home where de

AUTOISTS! HERE ARE ROUTES FOR FLORIDA

Eastern motorists from New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and the Middle Atlantic States, take the route south from Washington.
This leads down through Virginia,
the Carolinas, Georgia to Florida.
For the most part, this is the Atlantic Highway, though it combines, in part, with the Backroad and Dixie highways and the Old Spanish Trail, if it is followed to Miami.

Motorists Florida-bound from Seattle and the Northwest take the Yellowstone Trail, or the National Parks Highway, to Chicago, where they make connections with the Jackson or Dixie highways for Cincinnati or Louisville. The eastern Dixie Highway can be followed direct from here to Knoxville and Atlanta, straight down and through Georgia to Jacksonville.

By following the Old Spanish Trail, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona tourists can reach Florida over an interesting course that closely follows the Gulf of Mexico. There are connections for Californians over the Pacific Highway. The National Old Trail's road furnishes the best route for Kansas City and St. Louis motorists who prefer to go to Washington, D. C. first and then turn south over the well marked and well traveled portions of the Atlantic and Dixie highways.

From observations made at Gettisburg, considerable of the southbound travel from the West has been over the Lincoln Highway, tourists preferring to take the routes that are traveled most, doing their exploring when they reach Georgia and Florida.

The American Automobile Association has listed the most generally favored routes to Florida.

"THERE IS NO AGE, TO A STOUT HEART"

The fourth annual "Reserve mileage economy run" for Studebaker motor cars with more than 50,000 miles on their speedometers brought to the starting line in Los Angeles 20 entrants, the largest number of one make of car ever assembled for such a run.

Every car completed the 175-mile course from Los Angeles to Lake Arrowhead and return without a single mechanical mishap and without being late at a single instant. Yet the average "age" of the twenty was 10, 657 miles at the start.

The "youngster" of the lot had gone only 59,558 miles; the oldest car had done 200,123.

Even the winner in the Big Six class had 186,815 miles behind it at the start. Yet it made the 172 miles, racing a mile in altitude to beautiful Arrowhead Inn, with an average of 18.1 miles to the gallon.

The winner in the Special Six class was a 61,231-mileer, which averaged 16.5 miles to the gallon. First among the Standard or Light Six class and gone 15,895 miles, yet made the remarkable record of 26.5 miles to the gallon with no coasting.

The entire run was made strictly within legal limits—15 miles an hour in cities, 35 miles an hour in the country; full stop at all stop crossings and all the heaviest mountain climbing in second gear from specified limits. The test was for economy in operation and freedom from mechanical troubles.

All the cars were privately owned, entered by Southern California dealers. The 1,572,154 miles aggregate showing on the twenty cars speedometers at the start was a striking evidence of the reserve mileage built into these widely advertised one-profit cars.

The oldest cars entered were the 1919 models. Every Big Six entered made more than 15 miles to the gallon of gasoline; every Special Six exceeded 15.5 miles and the lowest attainment of the Standard Six class was 18.2 miles. Motors were not shot off during the trip going or returning.

The Gilmore Oil company checked gas and oil; Chiff Mulick of the Lor-joy Pacific company referred the run;
J. B. Van Nuys of Arrowhead Inn checked the arriving and leaving time at the Inn. Start and finish was at the Studebaker Corporation's branch office in Los Angeles, with A. W. Maxwell, manager, in charge of the run.
In each car was a checker supplied by a competing driver.

Curt Anderson, branch manager for Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, drove the winning Big Six; E. G. Seeley piloted the winning Special Six entered by the Alhambra Garage. Jack Adams drove the best Standard Six for Ketter Brothers of Pasadena.

The run over, each of the twenty cars was returned to its owner, to keep on its regular service, for all are in daily use and give every evidence of continuing it for years to come. Each owner insists his car is not "old." As one remarked in a poetic mood, "There is no age, to a stout heart."

Here

In the United States the railway, steamboat, automobile, airplane, motocycle, bicycle and horse are in use to bring people to Florida. Take your choice and come in any season of the year. See America, and begin with Florida, for here it was that American history began.

MAKING YOUR HOUSE A HOME

In planning your home, you bride, and women who are not brides but are forever trying to improve your homes, remember what a woman who is very wise in the making of Florida homes has said. "A man may build and decorate a beautiful house, but it remains for a woman to make of it for him. It is the personality of the mistress that the home expresses.
Men are forever guests in our homes, no matter how much happiness they may find there. You will express yourself in your home whether you want to or not, so you must make your mind to a long preparatory discipline. The ideal house is the one that has been long planned for, long waited."

Advertising is like an umbrella, you have to keep it up to do any good.

"JOURNEYINGS IN FLORIDA" FASCINATE EXPLORERS

For the lover of motoring, power boat or sailboat cruising, or other forms of recreational travel, Florida offers attractions that are envied or even approached by but few sections of the United States.

Florida has no snow-capped mountains; but it has just about everything else in the way of landscape or scenery. It has thousands of miles of wonderful paved highways extending in almost every part of the state; and it still has a few routes that haven't a single mile of paved road.

It has long stretches of roadway winding beside rivers or lakes; it has miles of firm and beaches, over which the rubber tires pass. It has vast expanses of prairie dotted with flowers of a dozen hues; it has leagues of pine forests interspersed with the moss-draped somberness of cypress heads.

Palms of a dozen varieties give a tropical aspect to much of the state, and everywhere the fiery scarlets of hibiscus, a clear sulphur yellow of allamanda, the burning orange of bigonia and the purple plumes of bougainvillea blend in a mosaic of colors with the blue of Florida skies, and the everlasting green of Florida forests and orange groves.

Florida has plenty of hills, from the summits of which motorists may sweep like a swallow into the long, grassy valleys. It has no glaciers, but it has more lakes than any other state in the Union. It has no rushing streams, but it has miles and miles of rivers and creeks inhabited by the biggest black bass to be found in any waters. It has as yet few political country estates, but such men as John and Charles Bingham, Ralph Caples, the Rockefellers—John D. and John D. Jr., as well as Percy—August Hecksher, Henry Palmer, Glenn Curless, Cornelius Vanderbilt and dozens of others are making heavy investments in the state and taking an active part in its development.

Penetrates Through the Skin Clear to the Bone

Liniment Called Mexican Mustang has Strange Power

A lame back, a strained muscle or aching joints will stop aching and become tender and supple if you will apply a little of that old-fashioned liniment known as Mexican Mustang. Druggists and other authorities agree that its great power to relieve pain is due to its magical penetrating action—it goes through the outer layers of the skin without burning or a trace of blister, right to the sore spot. It is not like the camellia, arnica, burning ointments usually known as liniments. No matter if all other outside applications have failed, you will not be disappointed with Mexican Mustang Liniment—it also heals cuts, burns and sores and no makes a valuable remedy to have in the home at all times. All druggists and wholesalers sell Mustang Liniment or can get it for you.

Know By Citrus

As yet, Florida orange and grapefruit groves are the features by which the Sunshine State is best known. With crops ranging from around millions of dollars of fruit a year and with new groves coming into bearing every year, this is to be expected. But each year, more and more people are learning the delights of journeyings in Florida, and more and more are testing the truth of what they have heard about the year-round joys of driving, sailing, power-boating, canoeing or getting about in any fashion down here where the cold winter day is probably a little more genial than a bracing March noon in the North or the Middle West and where the highest temperatures of summer still lack a few degrees of attaining the altitude reached by the mercury on a sure-enough hot day in New England.

A Choice of Routes

Motoring through the state from Jacksonville or Lake City, one has a considerable range of choice—down the East Coast through St. Augustine (oldest city in the United States), Daytona, Ormond, West Palm Beach, Hollywood and down to Miami, the nation's newest metropolis, one encounters a variety of landscape that surely should please even the most blasé of travelers. Coming south from Lake City one passes first and rivers, finally sweeping from oak-land heights into the comparatively level pine woods lands and prairies of South Florida and the Gulf Coast section. Jaywalking across the state diagonally from Jacksonville to Tampa one goes from the Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico, through a succession of hills and level country, around dozens of lakes and over a succession of streams, big and majestic as the St. Johns River at Sanford, or the cypress-studded creeks that creep from lake to lake along the way.

A Canoe Voyage

The traveler who enjoys exploring with a share of roughing it thrown in may be exactly suited by a canoe voyage starting at Kissimmee. Starting at this point, either by canoe, light-draft power boat or craft equipped with outboard motor, one may pass by a succession of rivers, canals and lakes, all the way to Lake Okechobee. There one may skirt around the border of this, the largest body of fresh water wholly within the United States, toward the southwest and thence by canals, lakes and the Caloosahatchee to Fort Myers and on to the Gulf. Or, traveling south-east around the lake, come out eventually by means of canals at West Palm Beach or Miami. Either of these trips is perfectly feasible; in fact, in recent years dozens of parties have made the trip, finishing with a wealth of pleasurable experiences and with hundreds of snapshots which they wouldn't sell for a good many hundred dollars.

Houseboating has not yet become firmly established in popularity on Florida waters, notwithstanding the facts that yachts from the North in ever-increasing numbers are annual visitors in every harbor on Florida's 1,700 miles of coast line from Jacksonville down to Key West, and thence up the Gulf coast to Pensacola. Every winter the palatial cruising yachts of wealthy Northerners deserting Cape Cod, Bay Harbor and other Northern resorts, flock southward in large numbers. They tie up for a while at Palm Beach, go on down the Biscayne Bay, Miami and Coconut Grove, cruise around the tip of the peninsula, stopping at Key West and probably making the ninety-mile trip across the Strait of Florida to Havana, thence northward, putting in at Fort Myers, Punta Gorda, Sarasota, Bradenton, and arriving at Tampa or St. Petersburg in time for the picturesque carnival that is the big feature of the annual South Florida Fair, the latter part of January or the first part of February of each year. Then they go on, stopping at New Port Richey, at Cedar Keys, at Panama City, St. Andrews Bay, Apalachicola (where most of Florida's oysters come from), and on to Pensacola, Mobile, Biloxi, Pass Christian and perhaps up the Mississippi to New Orleans. This is the wonderful winter cruise, and the variety it offers is almost beyond description, but a great many yachtsmen have made it, and more are making it every winter, for the double reason that it is one of the most picturesque cruises that can be planned and it comes at a time, during the winter, when sport of any severity are impractical, unknown in these waters.

Variety of Sports

As for sports, Florida presents everything that can be found in regions of older development, plus a great many that can't be found anywhere else. Of course, Florida has her scores of golf courses; that goes without saying in this day when almost everybody dabbles more or less with the ancient game. But besides golf there is the fishing in lakes and streams already referred to, the tarpon fishing all along the Gulf coast; greyhound racing, jai-alai, imported from Cuba; speedboat events—and some of the national classics in these sports are to be contested during the winter of 1925-1926, on Hillsborough Bay—and last, but not least, the big league baseball played by at least ten teams of the National and American leagues at their training camps in South Florida. But besides this, there is hunting that is not excelled anywhere else east of the Rocky Mountains and south of Canada. Florida still has plenty of deer, wild turkeys, quail and squirrel, to say nothing of black bear, panthers, wildcats and other big game. And the same of prices for hunting licenses and guides is still sufficiently low to enable the sportsman of modest means to enjoy a couple of weeks of this kind of sport without seriously injuring his bank balance.

Enjoying Great Growth

The whole State of Florida is now, has been for the last two years and will be for a good many years to come, enjoying the greatest and most rapid era of general development that ever has come to any part of the United States, with the possible exception of oil boom regions or gold rushes. All over the state, from Pensacola to Jacksonville, from Jacksonville to Key West, and from Key West up through Tampa and around to Pensacola again, and down the middle, existing cities are growing at a rate that taxes the utmost efforts of builders. New towns are springing up almost every night, miles of new paved roads are being built in a feverish rush to supply needed lines of communication. Railroads are extending their lines or are building new lines. Bank deposits and resources are increasing at a rate of around 100 per cent a year.

At the time of writing this, more than fifty new hotels, ranging in estimated cost from $2,000,000 down to the modest little $50,000 shack, are in course of construction. In different parts of the state; while the apartment buildings, homes and office and store buildings that are doing up are beyond all comparison. Florida is the oldest and newest state of the Union; the first to be discovered by Spanish explorers and the last to be discovered by the people of the United States.

Years ago, Thomas A. Edison, who for more than thirty years has had his winter home at Fort Myers, remarked, "There is only one Florida, and one hundred million people are going to find it out." It has taken a good many years for Mr. Edison's prophecy to be fulfilled, but it is being fulfilled today in even greater measure than he anticipated Florida has arrived, and apparently not long the one hundred people mentioned, but the whole world has found it out.

ANOTHER GREAT SLOGAN FOR FLORIDA

The late William C. Temple, a well-known Florida developer of some years ago, in accounting for the extraordinary value and versatility of Florida's natural advantages and resources, said on one occasion: "Florida is a natural monopoly," and nothing could be said to improve upon that statement or throw more illumination on the subject.

Since then another intelligent appraiser of Florida's resources has come to answer the question so often asked here of late in all parts of the country in discussing the tremendous forward movement of this State: "How long will the Florida boom last?"

Charles W. Bryan, brother of William Jennings Bryan, was a recent visitor to the State and went over it as a careful and impartial observer. He met, of course, as all visitors do, the inevitable question of the duration of the Florida boom, and his reply made the other day at Lake Worth deserves to rank with Temple's crisp words quoted above. Said Mr. Bryan: "The Florida boom will last as long as the climate." There can be no refutation of that statement, for with the climate goes the geographical location, equally enduring and in close touch with the great eastern markets and centers of population; and add to these a soil continuously referred to by hostile critics as "barren sand", but as rich and productive as the valley of the Nile, as the crops every year prove and you have a combination that is putting Florida in a lead she is destined to always maintain and whose advantages will multiply with passing years and increasing population.

It is a great phrase and we can't use it too often, now spread it too widely—The Florida boom will last as long as the climate." —Quincy Times.

Millionaires

When men who have plenty of money and could live anywhere in the world pick our Florida as a home spot, it ought to convince reasonable men that Florida has worth while values. To call off the list of names of prominent men who have winter homes in this state would make a long document. Florida can be reached by land or water.

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

Before You Invest in Paving—Investigate Concrete

The Bates Experimental Road is now a matter of history. The highway authorities of Illinois built this road to find out what type of highway pavement was necessary to stand the pounding of twentieth century traffic.

Three principal road building materials and various combinations and thicknesses of these were used. For many days and nights fleets of loaded motor trucks passed over this 2-mile stretch. At intervals the truckloads were increased until each rear wheel was carrying 8,000 pounds. A total of 377,460 tons was trucked over the road during the test.

Only thirteen of the original sixty-three sections survived. Ten were of portland cement concrete.

The other three had heavy concrete foundations which in all respects corresponded to the plain sections of portland cement concrete.

Many other sections with wearing surfaces placed on less enduring foundations were failures, proving that the foundation strength of good concrete was the winning factor.

The test above referred to was equivalent to several years of normal highway traffic. It proved that properly built concrete pavement is the most enduring and economical street and road construction material known. It proved that the added cost of so-called "wearing surfaces" or "tops" of other material was not justified. It proved that concrete combines all of the essentials of the ideal pavement—it is economical, skidproof, rigid and lowest in maintenance cost.

Many communities are profiting from the lessons taught by the Bates Experimental Road. Is your community one of these?

FLORIDA HIGHWAYS PICTURED AS CURE FOR SECTIONALISM

By Dr. Foss A. Hallaway

Chairman State Road Department

The State Road Department has begun to function as a state organization. The membership feels its responsibility to the whole state and each man is getting away from the sectional idea.

Representatives of the people in the State Legislature have shown much foresight and fairness in designating the preferential system of Florida.

It is the duty of the State Road Department to build these roads with all possible speed, and without showing special favors to anyone, but pushing the work vigorously in places where it will help the state most as a whole.

Under the law passed by the 1925 Legislature there are 5054.0 miles of road under the Florida system. In the first preferential system, which now includes roads 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8 and 10, there are 2240.5 miles. In the second preferential system there are 1044.0 miles. On the last complete report there were 1019.7 miles of road completed which is about one-fifth of the entire road system.

This system of roads gives a network of trunk lines over the State which will always carry the bulk of the heavy traffic.

Types of roads that can be built more rapidly and economically will be constructed tributary to these trunk lines as soon as the preferential work is completed.

This network of trunk roads will wipe out the sectionalism that has so often flared in designating them.

When it is possible for one Floridian to step in his Ford near Pensacola and drive over good roads to the capital, the East Coast, the Gulf Coast or to South Florida, it will not be many months before the great northern section will be pulling heart and soul with Central and Southern Florida for a greater development of a great State.

We look forward to the time when the vast tourist traffic west of the Appalachian Mountains will drop down the valley to avoid the snow and ice of the northern route and catch the southern trans-continental highway, entering Florida at Pensacola on Road No. 1, to follow the trunk roads of the preferential system to any section of the State.

In the building program of the State Road Department there is being shown sincere co-operation by counties, cities, Federal Government and the State, Florida as a whole is reaping the sensible co-operation between the road building authorities, and is profiting greatly by it.

The great scenic Gulf Coast Highway will before many seasons be traveled by many tourists who will come into the State at Pensacola, meander along the Gulf Coast, the mouths of great rivers and gentle lagoons hidden from the Gulf by sparkling offshore bars. They will follow for miles along the bays that only need the impetus of industry to become commercial or playground centers. They can drop by the State Capital, see the Suwannee near its mouth, where it is at its best and drifting down the Gulf Coast, which has its own typical scenery, the tourist will find himself in the greatly developed Pinellas and Hillsborough section from where he can cross the state on the Tamiami Trail and return the East Coast route, which again has its typical appeal, but all of which is Florida.

The building of these road systems as designated by the State Legislature is no more important part of the State Road Department's work than to keep these roads in good condition after they are completed. It is to the construction and maintenance—to build good roads and keep them good for traffic—that the chairman of the State Road Department has pledged himself, and is devoting his whole self to, single-mindedly.
